DYSPEPSIA.

IS that misery experienced when we suddenly become aware that we possess a diabolical arrangement called a stomach. The stomach is the reservoir from which every fibre and tissue must be nourished, and any trouble with it is soon felt throughout the whole system. Among a dozen dyspeptics no two will have the same predominant symptoms. Dyspeptics of active mental power and a bilious temperament are subject to Sick Headache; those fleshy and phlegmatic have Constipation, while the thin and nervous are abandoned to gloomy forebodings. Some dyspeptics are wonderfully forgetful; others have great irritability of temper.

Whatever form Dyspepsia may take, one thing is certain,

The underlying cause is in the LIVER, and one thing more is equally certain, no one will remain a dyspeptic who will

PIANOS.

GAINED FIRST PREMIUM FOR GREATEST merit at the New Orleans Cotton Centennial and WORLD'S Exposition for refined and wonderful power of tone, elegance of design, and superb finish. Only piano endorsed by United States commissioners, from each of the States. Cases finest carved, rosewood finish—finest imported double repeating action—three strings throughout of best patent steel wire—keys best ivory. Our new patent steel tuning device, instead of wood, is the greatest invention ever made in pianos. It consists of stationary STEEL tuning pins that are set in a mold and molten STEEL is run round the pins keeping them solidly in place. A thimble or shell pin is made to exactly fit the stationary pin revolving therein: thus the strings wind round the pins. After the strings are properly stretched the piano can never get out of tune, the rest plank being of STEEL not affected by extremes of climate. This will be be appreciated by all musicians in city or country. It will stand twenty years without tuning and is good for 100. No other piano has this improvement.

Great strength and durability is another advantage. In other pianos holes are bored in wooden boards and tuning pins inserted. The pins turn round in this board and cannot stand permanently in tune, and it often cracks, splits, drys out, becoming utterly, totally and entirely worthless as a musical instrument. Our STEEL tuning device is in no way affected by such casualities, and the sounding board is so constructed that our pianos can never become thin or metallic in tone. They are always in tune and the expense of tunning is saved. This patent alone is worth millions and makes our piano the greatest in the world. Prices are no higher than other pianos. Buying direct from us, the largest manufacturers, you save $100 or $200—dealers' profits. Don't mind the ominous growlings of dealers and agents, who see their chances of selling a poor piano at a big profit of $200—slipping away—pity them.

We guarantee our pianos ten years. 200 styles. We have put our prices at lowest bed-rock for Cash.

A $600 Piano for $259.50; a $900 Piano for $297 50; a $1200 Piano for $375.50; a $1500 Piano for $475.50.

Upright Cabinet Grands, with stool and rubber cover shipped on board cars at S. F., to any part of the United States, Canada or Mexico. Our terms are cash with order. If not as represented money returned. We occassionally have good second-hand pianos, made over at $100 to $300, which we take in part payment for our own. Write or call for catalogue, free.

THE FOX AND THE RABBIT.

"I swear," said a Fox to a Rabbit one day—
'Tis a story they often relate in the south—
"You shall be, Mr Rabbit, ere sunset my prey!"
And he threatened him fiercely with wide open mouth

The Rabbit set off at the top of his speed,
Resolving by flight to get out of the scrape;
But, hotly pursued, soon discovered the need
Of adopting a trick to effect his escape.

So he ran to a well curb which chanced to be nigh.
A windlass that two spacious buckets possessed,
And leaping in one—both were empty and dry—
Very quick at the bottom found safety and rest.

As one of the buckets thus suddenly fell,
The other and lighter rose equally fast;
And when Reynard arrived at the top of the well
He thought to himself, "I have got you at last!"

"My friend, why didn't you take them both with you?"
Said the Fox, as he bowed to the one that now swung
So high and inviting; "this nonsense we'll end;"
And into the bucket exulting he sprung

You see his mistake; for his heavier weight
To the surface the Rabbit full speedily drew,
Who said, while ascending, "Life's changes are great:
Now up and now down Mr Reynard, adieu!"

Then off hopped the Rabbit, and lived, I suppose,
Esteemed by his friends, to a happy old age;
While the Fox, when the day came at last to a close,
Was caught by a Farmer and put in a cage.

Now all of this proves what has often been said
Of the slips that occur 'twixt the lip and the cup;
So if up do not boast, there are hazards ahead;
If down, don't lose courage, you soon may be up
—Philip Burroughs Strong in Wide Awake.

Strawberries on Toast.

An ex-officer of the British army, who has spent many years in India and Africa, came to New York and is striving hard to learn how people in this city act. He finds a great deal to amuse him in the way food is served in the restaurants, and his friends usually enjoy a hearty laugh when he takes dinner with them, as he seldom fails to see something about which to make some quaint remark in expressing his astonishment. A few days ago this loyal Briton was, as usual, eating dinner, enlarging upon the superiority of things English as compared with what he had seen here, when, the more substantial viands having been consumed, one of the party ordered strawberry shortcake for dessert. The waiter filled the order about as promptly as is usual in down town restaurants, and the captain viewed the dish with surprise. He seemed unable to comprehend it at first, but before the delicacy had been eaten he seemed to have solved the problem. Then he surprised those around him by exclaiming: "By Jove! that must be nice! Strawberries on toast is a queer dish, though."—New York Tribune.

Gloves of Human Skin.

"Gloves which are sold as kid are often made of human skin," said Dr. Mark L. Nardyz, the Greek physician, yesterday "The skin on the breast," continued the physician, "is soft and pliable, and may be used in the making of gloves. When people buy gloves they never stop to question about the material of which they are made. The shopkeeper himself may be in ignorance, and the purchaser has no means of ascertaining whether the material is human skin or not. The fact is, the tanning of human skin is extensively carried on in France and Switzerland The product is manufactured into gloves and these are imported into this country Thus, you see, a person may be wearing part of a distant relative's body and not know it."

Then the doctor drew from a drawer a brand new pair of black gloves. "There," he said, "is a fine article made from the skin of a child. As the hide of a kid compares with that of a goat, so, of course, does the skin of a child compare with that of an adult, and it is much sought in France for glove purposes."—Philadelphia Record.

Civil Lists.

The civil list of the United Kingdom amounts to £385,000; the revenue of the duchy of Lancaster amounts approximately to £60,000, making a total of £445,000. To this sum may be added the income of the Prince of Wales—annuity £40,000 and £60,000 from the duchy of Cornwall—and annuities to the other members of the royal family making a grand total of £685,000. In Austria the civil list is £780,000, and the emperor has a private fortune which probably brings him as much. In Germany the emperor as king of Prussia has a civil list of £670,000, and besides has large domains the revenues of which enable him to provide for all the princes and princesses of his house. The crown prince is entitled to £50,000 per annum from the country. In Italy the civil list of the king is over £600,000. The revenue of the czar is probably as great as those of the other sovereigns combined.—London Standard.

"Black Heads."

A correspondent much troubled with "black heads" asks for a lotion. They should be pressed out either with the thumb nails or a watch key. The operation is likely to cause some congestion of the skin, hence the face should be bathed with water as hot as can be borne. As a rule, those who have "black heads" are sparing of the use of soap, which ought to be used quite freely by them. Ladies who object to it might use, instead, borax water, or water to which bran is added. Twice daily the following lotion may be applied: Ether, one ounce; carbonate of ammonia, one drachm; boracic acid, one scruple; water sufficient to make two ounces. This should be applied after the "black heads" have been pressed out and the face has been bathed in hot water.—Boston Herald.

Two Sides of the Case.

"That's a queer headline in the paper," said Mrs. Schoeppenstedt, "'Lost, a Fortune and a Wife.' I wonder which he missed the most."

"The fortune, probably," said Mr. Schoeppenstedt, heartlessly. "If he had the wife it would be hard for him to get another fortune, but if he had a fortune, he could easily get another wife."—Somerville Journal.

The Pueblo of Quibdo.

I found the natives so peaceable and courteous that my firearms were an unnecessary load. On one occasion, being at the hut of a native, an invitation to dine was accepted. No member of the family sat down with me, so great was their respect. They remained standing until I had done. On leaving the men all raised their hats. The women were always reserved until approached, but respond to a gentlemanly inquiry with quiet modesty. The women, according to the usual custom, are seldom wedded by ecclesiastical ceremony. Matrimony is too dear as performed through the instrumentality of the padre, and the probation demanded by the red tape of the church before espousing is irksome. So when the native man thinks of taking a helpmate he prepares by taking a machete (a long knife or sword with a wooden handle), and an acre or so of ground. After cutting from the land the brushwood and weeds he plants a portion with bananas or plantains, which bear fruit in three years. He then builds a hut of palm, thatched perfectly tight.

The house being built and the bananas maturing, he selects the woman to be casared (housed). There is no ceremony necessary. They have a family, the children are not educated nor clothed, nor is any provision necessary. Nature provides so bountifully for nearly all their wants; why should they worry about their next meal? There is a bunch of bananas and plantains maturing every day for perhaps 100 years without any further attention. Fish are abundant in the stream passing by their door. The man wants a straw hat, which the woman provides, woven by her hands with the grass near at hand. The woman weaves a covering cloth from the inner bark of a palm tree, colored green, just sufficient to meet what modesty demands. The man sometimes wants a dime for gambling, or whisky, or gunpowder, which is provided by the woman, who does the gold washing and principal labor.—Choco Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

☞ Would Abolish the Oath in Law.

Said a prominent lawyer the other day: "The oath in law should, I think, be abolished. It has retained its place upon the theory that it tends to secure the telling of the truth, but it does not. I have been for thirty years constantly about courts of law, and I unhesitatingly say that any person conscientious enough to regard an oath will tell the truth without one, and for those who may be restrained by the fear of punishment for perjury the statutes can be so amended as to make lying upon the witness stand or the subscription of false affidavits in legal proceedings punishable by the same penalties now attached to perjury.

"During the thirty years that I have named I have carefully watched the course of legal morality, and I tell you that perjury becomes daily more common and the oath lighter and more perfunctory. The clerk drawls out the form of oath without pause or punctuation. The witness, with falsehood deliberate and rehearsed in his heart, drops his right hand, takes the stand, the lie comes glibly to his lips, and some man's property, reputation or liberty are sworn away for dollars or for a grudge.

"The inconsiderate profanity of the angry or drunken man is harmless when compared with the indolent indifference with which officers administer and the black perjury with which witnesses take the oath. If we cannot make lying in judicial proceedings less, let us at least make it more decent and less profane.—Detroit Free Press.

Rules for Reading with Profit.

To read with profit calls for no elaborate rules and no cast iron system. It requires only these two things: First, that we shall read intelligently, and to that end that we master what we actually do read; and, second, that we follow up whatever interest may be aroused in reading, so as to make the general tenor of our reading illustrate itself. Any person who will faithfully follow these two simple rules for one year will be surprised at the extent, the diversity, and the continuity of the knowledge he has acquired; and others will be equally astonished at the culture of mind and the felicity of speech he has attained. Within a short time there will be few subjects upon which he will not be prepared to speak with pleasure to himself and others, because there will not be many subjects on which he is not more or less informed, and of which he has not more or less extensively thought. As a method of acquiring the almost forgotten art of conversation no method of profound study could possibly surpass the simple method of self culture we have indicated. For the greatest charm of cultivated conversation is facility in apt and striking illustration, such as nothing but extensive and intelligent reading can impart.—St. Louis Republican.

The Psychic Man and the Cosmic.

It is not the fashion just now to admire wholly vital men. The ideal man is a disembodied affair. But we must not forget that some of the grandest types were magnificently vital, with large appetites and surging impulses.

Your Shakespeares and your Goethes were powerful furnaces that shook by the violence of their combustion the delicate machinery they propelled. Your Handel was like an oak whose roots are in a morass but whose branches are in Heaven. And from St. Paul to John Knox we shall have to follow the events of history by the great vital captains that helped to make it.

I leave it to æsthetic pietism to say, if in its efforts to establish the purely psychic man it is not in danger of abolishing the cosmic man.—Nym Crinkle in New York World.

Chemical Properties of Sunlight.

Photographic experiments now reveal extraordinary chemical properties in the sun's rays, while, strange to say, some of the rays are entirely destitute of this peculiar power. It has also been discovered that there are rays of light outside of the solar spectrum, and which are invisible to to the human eye.—New York Sun.

A Discovery in Drilling.

A workman at the Carson mint has discovered that drill points heated to a cherry red and tempered by being driven into a bar of lead will bore through the hardest steel or plate glass without perceptibly blunting.

WILDCAT HUNTING.

One of the Favorite Sports of the Dwellers in Lower California.

"There she is!"

"Don't fire!"

"Give the dogs a chance!"

They and many other disconnected sentences came from a crowd of ladies and gentlemen who, well mounted and close upon a pack of eager hounds, were pushing into a thick patch of underbrush in the center of the Arroyo Seco, a dry canon or river just back of Pasadena, Cal.

Here the gulch was well filled with tall trees from whose branches there fell in rich festoons masses of wild grape and clematis that formed ropes that deftly caught riders beneath the chin, and so tied up the dogs that they often became fouled and yelped and howled in impotent rage. The party had started half a mile below in the clearing and had followed up the eager dogs that had now treed game of some kind, and, as they gathered about the broken poplar high up in one of the branches, there appeared a long, lithe body clinging to the limb, while over the side peered the ugly face of the wildcat. Excitement had been at fever pitch when the hounds struck the trail, but now that the animal was in full view, it fairly boiled over, even the horses appearing to be carried away by it.

"Stand back, ladies!" shouted the master of the hounds, who carried a light rifle, "sometimes a cat will jump for her life, and they will scratch when they land."

The ladies fell back a little, and a youngster in the party volunteered to climb the tree and dislodge the common enemy. Handing the bridle of his horse to a rider, he seized the pendent grapevine and swung up into the tree, and a few moments later was making his way along the branch toward the crouching cat. She was so intently engaged in looking at the dogs that at first she did not see him, but when he rounded the trunk she suddenly caught sight of the new enemy, drew back with a quick growl, glanced this way and that, as if measuring the chances, and, perhaps, would have jumped, when the climber deftly struck her from behind and down she went, with a scream of rage into the red mouths below. The blood and fur flew, for puss was game, and not a few good dogs backed out, wiping their heads and ragged ears. But the game was up, and it was with great difficulty that the skin was saved for the rug which is the trophy of the wildcat hunt.

Hunting this short tailed feline is a feature of southern California out door sports. The deep canons that radiate down from the Sierra Madres form their retreat and that of large game in general. After a rain the hunts are organized, and then the paw marks are distinctly seen and the scent fresh, and, as the storm clouds blow away from the mountain sides and the warm sun comes out the bay of the hounds of some sportsman is nearly always heard. The wildcat of this country is a large, powerful animal, approaching the lynx, also found here, in size and general appearance, and large enough to inflict dangerous wounds upon man or beast.

On one occasion the hounds came upon a fresh scent in an extremely narrow place in the canon, where precipitous rocks rose on one side and heavy brush on the other. The dogs rushed into the latter, and a moment later a large cat bounded into the narrow stream and began an ineffectual scramble up the rocky sides. A bullet caught her before she had gone thirty feet, and, turning with a snarl of rage, she leaped directly into the air, fell upon the neck of a broncho, dismounted the rider in the melee, and before she could be dislodged tore and lacerated the animal in a fearful manner. Kittens are often seen in play to take one another in their mouths and to scratch with their hind feet, and it was this plan that was adopted by the cat. She fastened her claws into the broncho's neck, and with her sharp hind claws ripped and clawed until the animal was a mass of blood and lacerated flesh, then fell among the dogs, to be torn to pieces amid a protest that showed it to be among the gamest animals.

"You may talk about your mountain lion," said an old hunter as we rode slowly up the Arroyo one early morning after the rain, with the whimpering dogs all about, "but I would rather take my chances with one any time than with a pair of wildcats at close quarters. It just seems as if a cat loses its head like. They know they're caught, and they are just bound to have it out if it takes all summer. They fight worse when there is a pair, just like a mountain lion."—Philadelphia Times.

The Arab Mare.

She was the most beautiful mare I have ever seen, of pure Najd blood, gray, with flea bitten spots, eyes too large for her head, nostril thin and expanded, the throat of a game cock, the hair of her mane and tail so fine and soft that the most beautiful woman might have been proud of such a texture, and her skin so thin and soft that the thorn bushes through which I rode her used to tear it; and after many of my runs through the jungle I have had her, bleeding from the thorns, looking as if she had been practiced upon with a light sabre. She was what you would consider in England a pony, 14 hands 1 1-2 inches high; but she was as broad almost as a dray horse, and her tail was set up so high that as she moved about her loose box you could, stooping, walk between it and the ground. Her feet were black and hard, and the tendons below her hocks and knees were like harp strings. Add to this that her head was so lean that you might have boiled it without obtaining any flesh from it, and you have a picture of what this desert born mare was.—Maj. Shakespeare.

Power of the Industrial School.

No one panacea of any reformer fits the case or can alter existing conditions. Only what man's own soul sees as good and wills to possess is of faintest value to him. No attempt at co-operation can help till the worker sees its power and use and is willing to sacrifice where sacrifice is necessary; to work and to wait in patience. Such power is born in the industrial school in its largest sense; the school that trains heart and mind as well as eye and hand, and makes the child ready for the best work its measure of power can know.—Helen Campbell.

NATURAL GAS.

This is now the latest and most valuable article which is being found and put to use in this favored State. Stockton is being greatly benefitted by it, owing to men of capital taking hold of the natural gas wells in the vicinity of that city and utilizing the same for light and fuel. This is done by laying pipes from the wells and conducting the gas into Stockton, thus affording its residents a plentiful supply of light at a cost far below coal oil and artificial gas, while as a heater it bids fair to drive wood and coal out of the market. Indications of this natural gas have also been discovered near Sacramento, Santa Rosa and Petaluma and men of energy and means are forming companies to develop the valuable finds. Strange to relate though, none of these capitalists seem to know that within three miles of Sonoma a strong jet of gas has been discovered less than ten feet from the surface. The gas has been going to waste since the days of Mexican rule and when the Indians were the possessors of the land. This gas gives a fine steady flame and there is every indication of an immense supply. Ten or fifteen feet from where the gas emanates from the bowels of mother earth a well was bored for water. At a depth of 37 feet gas made its appearance and at the present time emits a loud bubbling sound as it forces its way out of the water. This indicates the presence of natural gas in large quantities struggling to find an outlet.

Now here is an opportunity for men of means. The chances are more than even that sufficient gas can be developed from this source to supply San Francisco, or at least a greater part of that city. It could be conducted to the metropolis in iron pipes, as it is only thirty miles distant. To those who think it would be impracticable we would state that in Pennsylvania gas mains have been laid ninety miles or three times the distance between Sonoma and San Francisco. The present owner of the land on which this gas has been discovered and partly developed is an ex-English army officer by the name of Boyes, who will be glad to show anyone around the place who wishes to investigate into the matter with a view to utilizing what may prove to be one of the richest discoveries ever made in Northern Calfornia.

D. O. Shattuck, Jr., brother of our fellow townsman, F. W. Shattuck, who is in the stock and dairy business, near Ukiah, was down here this week looking for some fine cattle with a view to the improvement of his own herd and those of his neighbors. We received a call from Mr. Shattuck and had a social chat about the old times in California. He was here in the summer of 1850 and hunted elk, deer and antelope where the town of Petaluma now stands. He was one of the early settlers of Ukiah valley, and, it is evident from his young and well preserved appearance, that the climate of Mendocino agrees with him.—Petaluma Argus.

Painful Boils.

About three years ago I was troubled with poison in my blood, very irritating and painful boils breaking out all over my body. For two years I suffered with them, trying all sorts of remedies, and doctor's prescriptions without avail. Becoming disgusted with doctors, and medicines I had used up to this time, I concluded to try S. S. S. and the result was far beyond my expectations. A few bottles left me in better health than I had been since childhood. I consider S. S. S. the only medicine that will thoroughly purify poisoned blood.

Mr. J. J. Bradley, writes from Harrison, Ga., under date of September 22, 1889. Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) has been freely used by my family with the best and happiest results. A half dozen bottles entirely relieved my sister of a severe case of scrofula. My wife has frequently found her blood purified and her health improved by S. S. S. I also had a scrofulous affection that has been entirely cured by taking a few bottles of Swift's Specific. (S. S. S.)

The Safest

AND most powerful alterative is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old are alike benefited by its use. For the eruptive diseases peculiar to children nothing else is so effective as this medicine, while its agreeable flavor makes it easy to administer.

"My little boy had large scrofulous ulcers on his neck and throat from which he suffered terribly. Two physicians attended him, but he grew continually worse under their care, and everybody expected he would die. I had heard of the remarkable cures effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and decided to have my boy try it. Shortly after he began to take this medicine, the ulcers commenced healing, and, after using several bottles, he was entirely cured. He is now as healthy and strong as any boy of his age."—William F. Dougherty, Hampton, Va.

"In May last, my youngest child, fourteen months old, began to have sores gather on its head and body. We applied various simple remedies without avail. The sores increased in number and discharged copiously. A physician was called, but the sores continued to multiply until in a few months they nearly covered the child's head and body. At last we began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In a few days a marked change for the better was manifest. The sores assumed a more healthy condition, the discharges were gradually diminished, and finally ceased altogether. The child is livelier, its skin is fresher, and its appetite better than we have observed for months."—Frank M. Griffin, Long Point, Texas.

"The formula of Ayer's Sarsaparilla presents, for chronic diseases of almost every kind, the best remedy known to the medical world."—D. M. Wilson, M. D., Wiggs, Arkansas.

The Chamber of Torture

Is the apartment to which the unhappy sufferer from inflamatory rheumatism is confined. If, ere the crisis of pain is reached, that fine preventive, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is used by persons of a rhematic tendency, much unnecessary suffering is avoided. Nervines, anodynes and sedatives, while having none but a specific effect, are yet very desirable at times. Yet can they produce no lasting effect on rheumatism, because they have no power to eliminate from the blood the rheumatic virus. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters does this, and checks at the outset a disease which, if allowed to gain headway, it is next to impossible to dislodge or to do more than relieve. Rheumatism, it should be remembered, is a disease with a fatal tendency from its proneness to attack the heart. A resort to the Bitters should, therefore be prompt. Dyspepsia, kidney complaint, malaria and nervousness are relieved by it.

ITS EFFICACY.—1. Its effects are prompt. 2. Its relief is sure. 3. Its cures are permanent. 4. It cures; no return of pain. 5. It cures in all cases used according to directions.

1st. It is in one word a cure; it is not merely a relief and in no sense a cure-all; it is the product of scientific research.

2nd. It strengthens while it soothes and subdues, heals and cures; it literally conquers pain.

3rd. Its effects are curative and permanent to the whole group of muscular miseries and nervous agonies.

4th. It does not merely irritate the outer surface, nor does it merely soften or relax a constricted muscle. To its specific action a superior curative virtue is superadded.

5th. It penetrates deeply but gently; searchingly and surely, seeking the pain-spot in an effort to conquer.

6th. Each constituent of the formula has a recognized intrinsic virtue to serve most surely the cure of pain.

eads in from three to six months never fails to prevent the hair om falling out and starting a new growth after three or four applications. Three or four applications of the remedy will also effectually clear the scalp of every vestige of dandruff. It is also an excellent article for a lady's toilet as it makes the hair soft and wavy. So rapidly has the local fame of this new discovery spread that some fifty or sixty dollars worth of it was sold in this town last week. It is the intention of the patentees to put the article on the market on a large scale as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made. The restorer is a purely vegetable compound.

A Dead Beat Arrested and Jailed.

A man registering as Chas. O'Brien put up at the Union Hotel the fore part of last week. He pretended to be a newspaper man and boasted that he was connected with the Louisville Courier-Journal. He strutted around the bar-room like a nabob, picked his teeth complacently with a wooden tooth-pick and occasionally stood off mine host Barta for the drinks, which he requested to have chalked down and charged up with his bill for board and lodging. After running a bill of several dollars Mr. Barta reminded the fellow that it was one of the rules of his house that guests without baggage must pay as they go. O'Brien then left the hotel, stating that he was expecting a remittance by mail that day and would settle as soon as it arrived. He started for the Postoffice, and that was the last seen of him in this town. On Thursday he turned up in Santa Rosa and put up at Byrne's Hotel and after running a $6 bill sneaked off. Byrne, however, got out a warrant and had him arrested before he succeeded in leaving town. He was taken before a Justice of the Peace and seeing that he was in a tight fix he plead guilty to the charge of swindling which had been preferred against him and was sentenced to twenty days in the Santa Rosa Jail. The chances are that landlord Barta will also prefer charges against the rogue before his sentence expires, in which event he will no doubt have to serve another sentence.

Board of Health.

The Board of Health of this city held a meeting on Wednesday evening of last week, Dr H. H. Davis in the chair and Messrs. Sparks and Weyl present.

On motion of H. Weyl the City Trustees were requested to amend Section 5 of Ordinance No. 33 by adding the words: "Or running stream," after the words "and well or dwelling." The City Clerk being present volunteered to draw up such amendment and lay it before the Trustees at their next meeting.

It was moved and seconded that Secretary Weyl give notice in writing to all persons on whose premises a nuisance may exist to remove the same within fifteen days or the same will be removed at the expense of the owner or occupant as provided by the provisions of section 3 of Ordinance No. 33. The Board then adjourned.

Glen Ellen Has a Narrow Escape from Fire.

On Monday morning last about 8:30 o'clock Chas. Wilson, an employee of the Glen Ellen Hotel, discovered smoke issuing from a room in the rear of Beatty's butcher shop. He immediately gave the alarm and a rush was made for the room, which was completely enveloped in smoke from a fire that had broken out in a lot of rubbish which had accumulated there. The flames were speedily extinguished before any serious damage had been done. Had the fire got ten minutes more start nothing would have saved the butcher shop and the Glen Ellen Hotel, as a high wind was prevailing at the time.

THE CITY TRUSTEES.

They Hold a Spirited Meeting—Precautions in Case of Fire—Other Matters.

The Board of City Trustees held a very spirited meeting last Wednesday evening. A full Board was present, as was also the Clerk, City Marshal and the INDEX-TRIBUNE scribe, the latter very modestly occupying a seat in the rear of the "Big Five."

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved after which the following bills were allowed and ordered paid: J. Fochetti, repairing pump, $1.50; B. Magetti, labor, $12 50; F. Clewe, supplies, $6 43; Thos. Moss, sprinkling streets, $4 75; A. Fouts, labor, $12 50; G. H. Hotz, supplies, $4 30; F. Breitenbach, salary, $25; G. W. Sparks, salary and services, $24 50; Board of Health, expenses, $2 70; Victor Jansen, labor, $4 50; H. Moses, labor, $17; J. H. Sackett, 12; H. H. Granice, $28 40; Wm. Parish, hauling, $42 35; Pierre Augarde, labor, $15.

H. Weyl, Secretary of the Board of Health, having made a verbal report regarding the nuisance existing in the rear of the Union Livery Stable, Trustee Poppe offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the property-owners objecting to the nuisance at the Union Livery Stable, are referred to Ordinance No. 27 for a remedy, and that the Board of Health is hereby requested to submit to this Board a report in writing on the condition of said livery stable.

Adopted.

H. H. Granice addressed the Board, stating that he intended to improve the sidewalk in front of his property on Napa street, and requested the Board to put in a curbing. The consideration of the matter was laid over until the next meeting.

Trustee Poppe then introduced the following resolution:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Board that all agreements and promises made by individual members of this Board in relation to any business concerning the City of Sonoma, outside of the regular or any special meeting of the Board, are calculated to create trouble and confusion.

Resolved, That no business of any kind whatever relating to the City of Sonoma be transacted except at a regular or special session of the Board.

Adopted.

On motion of Trustee Manuel appropriations for street work were made as follows: Napa street, $50; First Street East, $50; Second Street East, $50; Fourth Street East, $60.

On motion of Trustee Wegner the following appropriations were made for streets west of the Plaza: First Street West, $25; Napa street, $75; cemetery road, $75; Broadway, $100.

The following resolution was introduced by Trustee Wegner, and having received the second of Trustee Poppe, the same was adopted:

Resolved, That the Clerk shall at once advertise for bids to put up 14 hydrants, more or less, on the principal streets of the City of Sonoma according to specifications. Said bids to be received at a special meeting to be held on November 19, 1889, at 1 P. M. for said purpose.

The appropriation of $700, made at a previous meeting of the Board, for the purchase of a fire engine, was increased to $760 to secure a more serviceable engine.

It was moved and seconded that the Street Committee show the property-owners on Second Street East the new line established on the west side of that street.

A petition signed by Thos. Moss and eight others was received and read, asking the Board of Trustees to repair that part of Spain street lying east of Second street east.

On motion of Trustee Poppe, the Clerk was instructed to notify the Railroad Company of their duty to keep Spain street in good order.

Ordinance No. 35, introduced on October 2, 1889, repealing Sec. 2 of Ordinance No. 31, relating to the election of firemen was taken up, and on motion of Trustee Poppe the same was finally passed by a unanimous vote, and approved by the President.

Trustee Poppe then introduced Ordinance No. 36, amending Sections 5 and 9 of the Health Ordinance. And the same having been read was placed on file by the Clerk.

No other business appearing the Board adjourned.

FOR PURE FOOD.

San Francisco Board of Health Notify Consumers which is the Best Baking Powder.

San Francisco Chronicle.

The Board of Health can engage in no more more laudable occupation than the examination of our food supply and the instruction of the public as to those articles it finds to be pure and wholesome, and which, therefore, consumers should use.

There are quantities of baking powders in the market to use which is certain detriment to the health of the consumer. They are made from alum, or are improperly compounded from other chemicals, so that they leave a strong alkaline residium in the food. Many of these powders, have been prohibited from sale in the East, and have been collected by their manufacturers from the dealers with whom they were left on commission and shipped to the Pacific Coast. The public know nothing about their quality except what it reads in newspaper advertisements. In the effort to gain a foot hold in this market unscrupulous manufacturers of these cheaply made low grade baking powders have indulged in extravagant statements both with reference to their own and other brands, claiming the most improbable endorsements for their goods and denouncing the brands best known and longest used upon the Pacific Coast.

The action of the physicians of the Board of Health, therefore, in giving the public reliable, authoritative information as to the brand of baking powder to be used to secure the most economical and wholesome food is most valuable and timely.

The chief brands of baking powders sold upon the Pacific Coast were collected and analyzed by Messrs. Thomas Price & Son, the well-known analytical chemists of San Francisco. They found the strength or leavening gas (measured at 100° F.) of the brands named as follows:

NAME.	Leavening Gas, Cubic inches per oz.
ROYAL	191.
Giant	140.
Golden Gate	123.
Dr. Price's	116.
Pioneer	105.

The general usefulness of a baking powder depends upon the quantity of leavening gas it gives off. As these powders are retailed at about the same price, the most economical is also apparent.

The opinion of the Board of Health is as follows:

We, the members of the Board of Health of the City and County of San Francisco, cordially approve and recommend Royal Baking Powder. It is absolutely pure and healthful, composed of the best ingredients, of the highest strength and character.

In our judgement, it is impossible to make a purer or stronger baking powder than the Royal.

The Dyak as a Climber.

The Hill Dyaks of Borneo are expert climbers. Mr. Hornaby, while collecting specimens of natural history, saw a Dyak ascend a large tapang tree, five feet in diameter at the base, straight as a ship's mast, and without the smallest limb or knot for 120 feet up.

The man went up the tree to secure a bees' nest hanging from the under side of the lowest limb. The nest was simply a large, naked, triangular piece of white comb.

A Dyak "ladder" had been put up the previous year, and reached from the ground to the branches. It consisted of seven twenty foot bamboo poles held almost end to end alongside the trunk by sharp pegs driven into the soft wood about two feet apart.

The pegs were driven first on one side of the poles and then on the other, and to them the bamboos were lashed by rattans, which held them firmly about eight inches from the tree. These pegs served as the rungs of the ladder.

The builder must have been a bold man, with nerves of steel. He was obliged to let the ends of the poles overlap a few feet in order to build the ladder with safety to himself.

The completion of the ladder was most difficult. Clinging to the slight bamboo pole, 100 feet from the ground, he hauled up the last bamboo, twenty feet long, drove in the peg, lashed the lower end of the pole to it, and then ascended that shaking bamboo to fasten it at the top.

The Dyak honey hunter fastened to his back a basket to receive the honey. Making up his torchwood, with which to smoke the bees out of the nest and away from himself, he ignited it, slung it by a cord from his neck, so that it would hang below his feet, and started up the slender "ladder."

Hand and foot he went up, peg after peg, with a nonchalant ease which would have done credit to the most daring of sailors. Even that sailor would have been pardoned if he was a little shaky, while climbing a tall factory chimney by the lightning rod.

On reaching the lower limb, 123 feet from the ground, he took his torch in one hand, waved it to and fro, until it smoked freely, and then crawled out along the bare branch until he was in reach of the coveted nest.

Examining it first on one side, and then on the other, he shouted down as cheerfully as if his climb had been nothing, "No honey!"

Leaving the comb untouched, he descended, with a smile, and reached the ground without the least tremor.—Youth's Companion.

The Lick Telescope.

What the Lick telescope will do will depend on men who have the handling of it. It will not make discoveries of itself. All that can be said of it is that it will place in the hands of painstaking competent observers the best means now in existence of scanning the heavens. If they do not turn the means to account it will not be the fault of the telescope. In times past some small telescopes have made more important discoveries than stand to the credit of some of the large telescopes of our day. But this is not because the small instruments were better, but because in proportion to the progress of exploration the unexplored area of the heavens naturally diminishes. There is less to be discovered now than there was in the time of the elder Herschel.

Nor is it logical to deride large telescopes because Lord Rosse's great instrument has added little to its early nebular discovery. His telescope is powerful, but it is not exact or accurate, and every observer knows that exactness and precision in a telescope are even more important than power. Professor Davidson says that the Lick telescope will unveil stars of one degree fainter magnitude than can be detected by the instruments now in use. This would be no small gain. A correspondingly increased power ought to add to our knowledge of Mars, which is the planet of most immediate interest to observers on this globe.—San Francisco Call.

Finney's Valuable Find.

Louis Blanding says the generally accepted statement that the largest nugget ever found in California was worth a little more than $21,000 is an erroneous one. He says that J. J. Finney, "Old Virginia," found a piece of gold about six miles from Downieville, Sierra county, on Aug. 21, 1860, that weighed 5,000 ounces. The gold of that vicinity was worth $18 per ounce, which would make the value of the nugget $90,000. This would make the Finney nugget the largest piece of pure gold ever discovered, so far as accounts go. Heretofore the Australian nugget, found in the Ballarat gold fields, has been considered the largest. It was valued at $60,000. Finney, or "Old Virginia," as he was familiarly called in those days, afterward went to Washoe when the great silver discoveries were made there, and from him the town of Virginia City took its name. The man who discovered the largest nugget in California and gave his name to the richest mining camp in the world died in extreme poverty.—Grass Valley Union.

A Discreet Daughter of the Family.

One of Detroit's best known evangelical ministers has a half interest in a 4-year-old daughter. The other day she broke over the traces of discipline and her mother sent her into a closet, with the injunction to tell God all about what a naughty little girl she had been.

At the expiration of her penance hour she came forth very quietly, as if her discipline had had a wholesome effect.

"Well, little daughter," said the mother, "did you tell God all about it?"

"No, mamma," was the reply; "I des didn't do it, 'tause I fought my papa wouldn't like to let it det out of the family."—Detroit Free Press.

Injury to One's Own Trade.

A vulgar spoken man can do a great deal of injury unknowingly to one's trade. There are men who can never be restrained. If anything goes at variance with them, they make no scruple of flinging out an oath or a vile epithet. To ladies this is particularly distasteful, and there are sensitive gentlemen too who can not endure it. Neither may say anything, but they quietly stay away, and the result is that while one retains the foul mouthed man's trade he may lose the custom of four or five equally as good, if not better. The defect is a hard one to correct.—Globe-Democrat.
